

Problems in the analysis of user agent strings based on the browscap.ini

The list of user agents strings that can not be identified with the current Browscap.ini.

Currently, the list of unrecognized browsers and bots is getting longer and longer, as the browscap.ini file grows steadily.

It is to be considered whether browscap.ini is still the right method for the identification of a browser or bot with ever-increasing number of useragent strings. In my opinion, a method should be chosen to read the data of the User-Agent string that identifies the client by means of certain rules and a defined vocabulary. My idea, method and implementation I presented on the site User-Agent-String \(/User-Agent-String/\).
